Christmas 1973; More Terrorism And Uncertainty

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Christmas 1973 was a holiday of more terrorism, less warfare and more economic uncertainty for the Christian world.

There also were the traditional family reunions, feasting, gift-giving and prayers for peace.

Road travel was light and Yule lights dim in many countries because of fuel shortages.

"As he exists, man is not perfect," Pope Paul VI told 30,000 Romans and tourists Christmas Day in St. Peter's Square. "Exalt man: you will make more evident his deficiency, his incompleteness, his inner need to be saved. We say it once and we say it in a word: his need for a savior."

Thousands jammed St. Peter's Basilica for Christmas Eve and Christmas Day Masses. But fewer than 4,000 persons — the smallest crowd in years — made the pilgrimage to Bethlehem because of fears of Arab terrorist attacks. The Israeli government put a heavy security guard on the little town in occupied Arab territory, and there was no violence.

It was the first Christmas at peace for American soldiers in 12 years, and the first in freedom for American prisoners of war from Indochina. The Skylab 3 astronauts walked outside their spacecraft for a better view of the comet Kohoutek and radioed to earth their hope for understanding among all men.

Yule Puppy Is Stolen

RANCHO CALIFORNIA, Calif. (AP) — A burglar has written to a couple to explain that he stole a basset puppy from their home to provide his children a Christmas present.

He also warned the couple to lock their doors to avoid more damaging burglaries and promised that the puppy would be well cared for, Riverside County sheriffs said.

The officers said they had no clue to the identity of the writer who sent the unsigned note to John and Anita Hutto a week after their home was ransacked.

"I was looking for something to sell so my two little boys could have Christmas presents. I'm not a professional thief," the note said.

"You really should keep your doors locked, because the next person may not give a damn and he'll clean you out," it continued. The writer assured the Huttos that he had "a big yard and two little boys to play with the puppy as soon as he's old enough."

"Thank you for the dog," he concluded.

Arabs Ease Oil Crunch To Japan And Britain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Japanese and British officials thanked the Arab nations today for promising them more oil but warned that it would not end the energy crises in their countries.

The Arab oil ministers announced Tuesday at the end of a two-day meeting in Kuwait that they would restore some of the cuts in production ordered after the Arab-Israeli war.

The ministers said the 5 per cent cut planned for January would be canceled and instead production cutbacks now totaling slightly more than 25 per cent would be reduced to about 15 per cent. But they said their embargo on all shipments of Arab oil to the United States and the Netherlands would continue unchanged because of those countries' continuing support of Israel.

In Washington, the White House said President Nixon and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger discussed the Arab oil development during a phone conversation Tuesday. Neither Nixon nor Kissinger had any public comment about the development.

A spokesman for the oil ministers said in Kuwait, "The Arab states noted with satisfaction the new trend in the United States toward understanding the Arab case, and the tendency among a large number of congressmen and senators to understand the reality of the Arab problem and the Israeli aggression. But this trend is not enough for us to call off the embargo."

"Japan and other friendly countries including Britain and France will be provided with their needs," said Saudi Arabia's oil minister, Ahmed Zaki Yamani.

Another spokesman also mentioned Belgium and indicated all countries except the United States and the Netherlands would benefit from the production increase. He added that the Arabs would consider the Americans friendly only when U. S. efforts produced an Israeli withdrawal from all Arab territories captured in the 1967 war.

"It is a great pleasure for us that Arab countries have decided to treat Japan as a friendly nation," said Hirota Mitsuda, the chairman of the Japan Oil Federation.

But the minister of international trade and industry, Yasuhiro Nakasone, said oil and power reductions planned for January will be carried out because of the cutback in December oil shipments.

The chairman of the Tokyo Electric Power Co., Kazutaka Kikawada, cited another energy crisis factor affecting oil users everywhere: the $3.94-a-barrel price increase decreed Sunday by the Persian Gulf oil states. Its purpose is to conserve the Arabs' oil reserves without reducing their income, not to reduce support for Israel.

British Trade Secretary Peter Walker welcomed the Arab move and said its effects could be felt by the end of January. But he pointed out that Britain's energy troubles are due mostly to the slowdown by its coal miners and railwaymen, not the Arab oil squeeze.

National, Ohio Traffic Tolls Low

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The four-day Christmas holiday drew to a close with traffic fatalities across the nation running behind predictions.

When the counting period came to an end at midnight Tuesday, an Associated Press survey showed 496 persons had lost their lives in highway accidents.

This compares with a National Safety Council estimate made before the holiday began that 550 to 650 would die, and that figure was scaled down by 50 from what the Safety Council would have expected had there been no gas shortage.

A Safety Council spokesman said the adjustment was based on the expectation that motorists would be fewer in number and driving slower.

The spokesman said, however, that it would be several weeks before the Safety Council could attempt to pinpoint specific causes of the deaths during the holiday period between 6 p.m. Friday and midnight Tuesday.

"We wouldn't say it was the energy crisis only that would keep the number of deaths down," he said.

Nonetheless, the vast majority of the nation's gas stations were closed Sunday and Christmas Day, and a coast-to-coast sampling seemed to indicate that traffic was light.

During the last four-day Christmas holiday running from Friday night until Tuesday, in 1962, 646 persons were killed in traffic. Last year, 565 fatalities were counted during the three-day observance of Christmas. The Ohio Highway Patrol reported 19 deaths on state roads over the 102-hour Christmas holiday weekend.

That compares with 28 deaths over a Christmas weekend that was 24 hours shorter last year.

State officials had predicted that 25 would die this year in Christmas weekend traffic accidents.

Christmas Day was marred by a lone traffic death.

The count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Christmas night.

The dead: CHRISTMAS DAY TOLEDO — Raymond Sizemore, 46, of Toledo in a two-car crash at a Toledo intersection.

MONDAY CHILLICOTHE — Roy Douglas Leeth, 33, of Waverly, of injuries received Saturday when his car ran off U.S. 50 in Ross County and struck a tree.

WOOSTER — Emil Schussler, 26, of Cleveland, in a one-car accident on Ohio 83 in Wayne County.

BATAVIA — Robert M. Lipp, 26, of Chattanooga, Tenn., in a two-car collision on Ohio 32 in Clermont County.

Rountowners Show Real Christmas Spirit

Snow for reindeer, presents, decorations and continuing traditions of Christmas are not essential for the spirit of the season to work its magic when needed.

This was evidenced 12:30 p.m. Christmas Eve when a local resident allowed his compassion for a fellow human being to alter his normal behavior.

Byron Carter noticed a man with a white cane standing just east of Circleville on Route 22 appearing as if he were attempting to cross the road. Mr. Carter continued on his errand only to find the man still in the same location on his return.

Mr. Carter stopped to assist the man and learned his name was John Eads who had been living in Flint, Mich., from where he was hitch-hiking to the home of his cousin, Jim Cole of Rose Hill, Va.

Mr. Eads was the victim of a hit-skip accident in Michigan which left him blind in one eye and limited vision in the other. When out of funds he felt that his only help would come from his cousin who would assist him until he could receive social security.

The unfortunate traveler found the people of Circleville have very big hearts indeed. While having dinner with the Carter family at their home, other people were making arrangements for care while in Circleville and for his travels to Virginia.

Frank Hoffman, a board member of the local Salvation Army, the first person contacted by Mr. Carter, made more calls to Jack Clifton and Ed Fresh. Plans were made for a room at a local motel for the wayfarer and breakfast at a downtown restaurant with the tab picked up by the Salvation Army which also in accordance with the new policy contacted the person where Mr. Eads planned to go and verified the fact that he was welcome.

With donations from local citizens a bus ticket was purchased and money provided for meals on the trip. The 63-year-old man was taken to Chillicothe on Christmas morning by Mr. Carter where he boarded a bus for Cincinnati. The Sheriff's department of Hamilton County promised Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff, to meet the bus and escort him to the next stop which would take him to Middleboro, Ky., where the Sheriff from Jonesville, Va., assured the Pickaway County Sheriff that Mr. Eads would be driven from there to his cousin's home.

Atkins said the problem is worsened by thinning of the pine groves at Ft. Campbell, where the birds roost. He said this is causing the starlings and their cousins to roost elsewhere in the area.

Dr. Wade Kadel, doctor of veterinary medicine at the state's Animal Diagnostic Laboratory, has fixed farm losses for a recent season at $90,000 in wheat and barley and $116,000 in young pig losses because of a viral disease caused by starlings.

Dr. Kadel also noted that starlings, like pigeons, cause histoplasmosis in humans. Mayor Atkins said that Christian County reported 114 new cases of the respiratory disease in 1972 and that "the problem is getting worse."

population as well.

About 10 million starlings roost nightly at Ft. Campbell, a few miles south of Hopkinsville. Mayor George L. Atkins Jr. has consulted Rep. Frank Stubblefield, Sen. Walter Huddleston and Sen. Marlow Cook on ways to cut red tape and get around government restrictions on chemical eradication of pests.

Atkins wrote Stubblefield recently: "This problem has reached both unbelievable and unbearable proportions here in our area."

"It has reached the point where some farmers are no longer planting their winter grains because they know their entire fields will be stripped of the seeds, and that all of their efforts will be unproductive."

Kentucky Town Still Battling Pigeons

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Some of the bird population around Hopkinsville are strictly "pigeon non grata" since they became suspected carriers of a respiratory-disease outbreak this year.

Pigeons, says Hopkinsville City Ombudsman Barry Clark, are being trapped and exterminated at a rate that's expected to eliminate them as a health hazard in six months.

The eradication program began in November, with the hiring of a local pest exterminator to trap the birds, gas and incinerate them. Such a program was successful in Nashville, where as many as 1,800 pigeons a week were trapped.

Clark says the city is netting about 150 per week at present, but "the rate is picking up all the time."

The trapping followed an increase in histoplasmosis in the city and county. The respiratory disease is caused by spores developing in pigeon droppings.

Public attention was sharply focused on the problem when three painters working in the belfry of a Hopkinsville church where pigeons had roosted became ill-one of them severely.

Two firemen who had entered an attic where the birds nested also came down with the ailment.

Clark said he thinks 70 per cent of the estimated 5,000 pigeons here can be eliminated within six months, and that those left would not be a health hazard.

Meanwhile, the battle of the birds continues on another front. The city is making war on its starling, cow-bird, grackle and red-wing blackbird

Skylab Crew Takes Photos Of Onrushing Comet

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Clues to the history of the solar system may be recorded on photos of the comet Kohoutek snapped by two Skylab 3 astronauts during a record seven-hour space walk.

"I'm very happy with what they got," said Dr. Mayo Greenberg of Dudley Observatory. He will help analyze the pictures when they are returned to earth in February.

Commander Gerald P. Carr and William R. Pogue, wearing bulky space suits and attached to 60-foot lifelines, stepped outside the orbiting station Tuesday for the comet observations. The station was 270 miles above earth at the time.

The third crewman, Edward G. Gibson, remained inside to maneuver the big craft. He ran into unexpected control problems, mainly caused when Carr and Pogue scrambled around on the outside, imparting altitude changes on the craft.

All three astronauts were told to sleep late and generally relax today after their strenuous Christmas.

They were in the 41st day of a planned 84-day flight.

Carr and Pogue logged an even seven hours outside, breaking the old space walk mark of 6 hours 33 minutes set by Skylab 3 crewmen Pogue and Gibson on Thanksgiving Day.

While outside, they could not see Kohoutek from their angle because the streaking comet was washed out by light from the sun. But the astronauts and scientists on the ground were confident two special cameras were pointed in the proper direction.

The cameras photographed the comet in various spectral wavelengths and would have no trouble recording the images.

Kohoutek, after a 2 million-year journey from the fringes of the solar system, is nearing its closest approach to the sun, 13.2 million miles on Friday. During that period the astronauts will not see it, but they will after it zips by the sun and starts back toward deep space.

To record what happens during the pass by the sun, Pogue and Gibson plan another space walk Saturday to photograph it with the same cameras.

Kohoutek is believed to be a piece of debris left over from the birth of the solar system. The pictures hopefully will reveal many of the chemical elements of the comet and thus provide clues to the early history of the sun and planets, believed to have been formed 4.6 billion years ago.

President Nixon and his family spent the day at the White House, and the President had a telephone conference with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger about oil policy.

A shortage of gasoline and urgings by the Nixon administration for Sunday and holiday closings shut down all but a scattering of service stations around the United States. State police said most motorists decided it was better to stay home rather than risk running out of gas.

Christmas night was peaceful in London and Northern Ireland after bomb explosions Christmas Eve that killed three men and wounded 41 men and women. On Christmas Day, 200 Belfast demonstrators battled police with fists and rocks, and a 63-year-old woman was shot in the mouth when she was caught between British troops and gunmen of the Irish Republican Army.

Traffic from West Berlin through the Berlin Wall to East Germany was light, but officials expected thousands of West Berliners to cross today to visit relatives in the Communist East. Meanwhile, East German border guards profited from the holiday to repair five holes that West Berliners had knocked in the wall during the year to show their anger at the barrier.

The North Vietnamese News Agency said Hanoi Catholics "jubilantly celebrated Christmas against the background of a country from which the foreign aggressors had been driven out."

The Chilean military government, fearful of terrorist attacks, enforced tight security for the holiday. Police sources said 130 persons were arrested in Santiago for violating the 11 p.m.-5:30 a.m. curfew, and authorities said one motorist was shot and seriously wounded by a military patrol when he ignored orders to halt.

President Studies Oil Situation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is considering possible future moves as a result of the Arabs' continued embargo on shipments of oil to the United States.

Nixon interrupted his family's Christmas celebration Tuesday to hold a 30-minute telephone conversation with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger on the Mideast situation.

They reviewed the Arab decision and its impact on the U.S. Middle East policy and the energy crisis. Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said.

Warren said neither the President nor Kissinger had public comment on the announcement in Kuwait by the Arab oil producers.

The Arab states said that the United States remains too friendly with Israel and must do without Arab oil.

At the same time, they said production levels will be increased "10 per cent above the present level, and Japan and other friendly countries, including France and Britain, will be provided with their oil needs."

A spokesman for the Arab oil ministers said the Arabs would judge Americans as friends only when the U.S. peacemaking efforts in the Middle East produce a withdrawal from all Arab lands captured by Israel since the 1967 Arab-Israel war.

The Arab leaders, particularly Saudi Arabia's King Faisal, were reported offended by the recent congressional approval of $2.2 billion in Nixon-requested military aid for Israel.

Aides said Nixon exchanged presents with his family Christmas morning and then moved on to his Oval Office, where he conferred with White House chief of staff Alexander M. Haig Jr. and continued his review of legislation sent him by the just-adjourned Congress.

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices surged strongly higher over a wide range today as analysts said investors reacted bullishly to the relaxation by Arab oil producers of embargos to several European nations and Japan.

At 10:30 a.m., the Dow Jones average of 30 industrials had soared 20.14 to 834.95, as advancing New York Stock Exchange issues led declines by a broad 5-1 margin in heavy volume.

While relaxation of the embargo did not extend to the United States, Louis Abt of Granger & Co. said the action Tuesday by the Arab oil producing nations was "encouraging news."

Soviet Spacemen Return To Earth

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's Soyuz 13 spaceship and its two cosmonauts returned safely to earth today after a successful flight that lasted just under eight days, Tass announced.

"At all stages of the flight the systems of the Soyuz 13 spaceship and on-board scientific equipment functioned properly," the Soviet news agency reported.

A television report said Soyuz 13 made a soft landing on a snowy steppe in Kazakhstan, about 210 miles from

Heavy Rain Triggers Flooding

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Heavy thunderstorms triggered flooding in the central Gulf coast states today as rain, fog and some new snow hit widely scattered areas of the nation.

Many central Mississippi families were driven from their homes on Christmas Eve as flash floods dumped heavy rains on the area. Meridian, Miss., measured 8 inches Christmas Day added to 7 inches on Monday. Almost 150 families at Vicksburg and Laurel evacuated their homes Christmas Eve.

New Orleans, La., reported 4 inches Tuesday, while cities in Florida and Alabama were swamped with from 2 to 3 inches.

A tornado watch was posted for parts of Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

Lighter rains extended north-eastward through the upper Ohio Valley and the northern Atlantic coast states. Freezing rain glazed the northern Appalachians, dense fog covered New York City and an ice jam on the upper Hudson River caused some flooding.

Light snow whitened the north-eastern and west central Plains. Laramie, Wyo., received 2 inches of snow Christmas night giving it a total of 7 inches. Winds gusted around Rapid City, S.D., at 47 miles per hour.

Christmas was white this year for most of the northern half of the continent. Areas in Michigan got an extra 4 inches during the day and an added 2 inches hit parts of Minnesota and South Dakota.

Denver, Colo., was smothered with 12 inches of snow over the holiday, leaving the deepest Christmas Day accumulation in 60 years.

Cook Eyes Next Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Marlow Cook, R-Ky., says the Watergate scandals won't have much impact on his decision whether to run for re-election. But he says President Nixon's failure to clear up those scandals has done irreparable damage to the President.

The Louisville Republican hasn't yet announced whether he'll seek a second Senate term in 1974, and there have been reports he intends to give up his seat.

He called 1973 a "disastrous year for Republicans" and added that he doesn't think the disaster is over yet. "The President has to produce, but he's still procrastinating," Cook said in a Washington interview.

He refused to say whether he supports or opposes impeachment proceedings, but added that the scandals have made members of Congress "more independent" of the President.

the Baikonur space center where it was launched Dec. 18.

The crew — Maj. Pyotr Klimuk and Valentin Lebedev — got out of the spacecraft without assistance "and feel excellent," the report said.

Tass said Soyuz 13 landed at 11:50 a.m. Moscow time, or 3:50 a.m. EST.

Soyuz 13 was launched on Dec. 18 to test the spacecraft that is scheduled to link up with an American Apollo spaceship 18 months from now in 1975. With three Americans circling the globe in Skylab 3, it was the first time that the United States and the Soviet Union have had men in orbit at the same time.

Tass said Soyuz 13 landed 120 miles from Karagandain, a city in Kazakhstan.

It was the second manned Soviet space flight in three months after a lapse of more than two years. During that period scientists redesigned the Soyuz craft to correct the faults that caused the death of three cosmonauts in Soyuz 11.

U.S. space officials said the Russians made an unannounced launch of a Salyut space station on Nov. 30. They speculated that the Soyuz would link up with it, and the Soyuz was put in an almost circular orbit that has been used in the past for link-ups. But the Soviets at no time said anything about the Salyut or a link-up.

Seek Funds To Train Coal Miners

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan said today he'll ask for $1 million in federal money to help train new coal miners during the energy crisis.

"As the demand for coal increases, the industry finds itself with a shortage of trained underground coal miners," Gilligan said in a statement. "This program is designed to train 480 new employees in underground mining procedures..."

Gilligan said U.S. Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, is cooperating in the effort, which also involves the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services, the coal industry, the United Mine Workers of America union and several other state and federal agencies.

Six firms which now employ 7,800 miners in Belmont, Monroe, Harrison, Jefferson, Noble and Muskingum counties expect to hire 2,350 new miners in 1974 and 2,520 more in 1975, Gilligan said.

Gilligan said state officials anticipate the program will involve construction of a simulated mine, built above ground to duplicate working conditions in an underground mine.

Trainees would be instructed in the maintenance and operation of mining machinery, roof bolters, shuttle cars, track installation and other aspects of mining, the governor said.

He said industry officials anticipate the program not only will add to work force but will help cut down the existing turnover rate in the industry, which they say runs about 20 per cent a year.

Most Students Have Vo-Ed School Access

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More than 87 per cent of Ohio's high school juniors and seniors have access, or will have in the near future, to vocational courses, state Education Supt. Martin W. Essex said today.

Essex said in a statement "in the last 10 years the number of high school vocational students has multiplied four times." This year, he said, 218,590 high school students are being served by 6,410 vocational classes.

The figures were developed in a year-end study of vocational education in Ohio, Essex said.

The superintendent credited the legislature with playing the key role in the effort.

"Legislative commitment to vocational education has enabled Ohio to match local dollars more rapidly than could have been anticipated at the beginning of the decade," he said.

Essex, in his report, noted: —The last session of the General Assembly appropriated more than $46 million to match local funding okayed by voters up to Feb. 6.

—Lawmakers set aside another $20 million, when it becomes available, to match funds set aside by local voters this spring for vocational education construction.

—Voters in seven districts approved vocational construction funds in May and another district okayed similar spending in a special election in April. Five more districts okayed vocational funding in November.

Essex said a recent job placement survey showed, three months after completion of courses, 71 per cent of the state's vocational education graduates were employed fulltime in a field related to their training. Only six per cent of the graduates were unemployed, he said.

Ismet Inonu Dies At 89 In Turkey

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Turkish flags flew at half staff today in memory of Ismet Inonu, the country's elder statesman.

Inonu, 89, who served as president, premier and foreign minister during his long political career, died at his home Tuesday. He had been confined to bed since suffering a heart attack 10 days ago.

The date of the funeral was not announced immediately, but the government said Inonu would be buried alongside the mausoleum of Kemal Ataturk, his leader in the Young Turks' revolt after World War I and the founder of the Turkish republic.

Inonu was Ataturk's premier in 1923-24 and from 1925 to 1937. Upon Ataturk's death in 1938 Inonu succeeded him as president.

He kept Turkey neutral in World War II, then lined up with the Western bloc because the Soviet Union was demanding territory and control of the Turkish Strait.

He authorized the country's first genuinely free elections in 1950, but lost and was swept out of power by the Democrat party.

A decade later, Inonu returned to power as premier of a coalition government in 1961. He smashed coup attempts in 1962 and 1963 and stayed in office until 1964 despite two cabinet overthrows that required him to put together new coalitions.

Inonu's career in active politics ended in mid-1971 when a democratic socialist faction won control of the Republican People's party that he had founded. Inonu resigned as chairman of the party and entered the senate.

Inonu is survived by his widow and three children.

Ferry Sinks; 150 Killed

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador (AP) — Ecuadorian officials say the ferry Jambeli had twice as many passengers aboard as it was licensed to carry when it sank, drowning more than 150 persons.

At least 142 of the passengers, mostly market women and their children, were rescued or swam ashore after Monday's disaster on the Guayas River estuary. But authorities say the number of missing still has not been determined.

The old, 95-foot wooden cargo vessel was allowed a maximum of 150 passengers, and only 84 were registered for the 75-mile trip from Puerto Bolivar to Guayaquil. But officials said more than 300 persons were aboard along with 600 drums of butter.

The ferry sank between Punta Mandinga and Isla Nueva.

The newspaper El Telegrafo said the sinking was so sudden that the captain had no time to radio an SOS. First word of the tragedy came from a survivor who swam ashore two hours after the ferry went down, the newspaper said.

Motorists Pay Plenty For Gasoline

NEW YORK (AP) — Christmas was more a headache than a holiday for motorists in the New York area who had to cope with scarce supplies, long lines and sky-high prices at gasoline stations.

One station in Brooklyn was selling gasoline for 99.9 cents a gallon — until it ran out.

At another Brooklyn gas station, cars were lined up for five blocks in each direction.

"It's outright chaos," said Harvey Stashower, a Brooklyn station owner. He said motorists had been getting into repeated quarrels over their place in line.

The 99.9 cents per gallon price was charged by a station in Brooklyn. Another Brooklyn station charged 79.9 cents a gallon.

Resignation was mixed with anger among patrons.

Robert Broadie, of Brooklyn, was incensed.

"How can you charge that much for gas? It's gotta be illegal," he said. "I was going to go out tonight, but at 99 cents a gallon, I'll buy two gallons and go back home."

Nation Nixes U.S. Navy Presence

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Malagasy Republic, dependent upon Arab nations for its oil, has rebuffed the United States by abruptly canceling a planned visit by U.S. warships.

The island republic's officials told the U.S. embassy it did not have enough fuel or berthing space at the port of Diego Suarez to accommodate destroyers from a task force operating in the Indian Ocean.

But Pentagon sources said they believe the real reason was political — that Malagasy officials feared to offend the Arabs.

A Libyan delegation was reported in the Malagasy Republic, off Africa's southeast coast, shortly before the cancellation move last week.

This was the first such rebuff since carrier-led U.S. warships entered the Indian Ocean late in October, shortly after the most recent Mideast war. That war triggered an Arab oil embargo aimed at pressuring the United States to stop supporting Israel.

The U.S. fleet has cruised the Indian Ocean only occasionally in recent years. But Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger said on Nov. 30, "We intend to re-establish the pattern of regular visits into the Indian Ocean, and we expect that our presence there will be more frequent and more regular than in the past."

The Indian and Tanzanian governments have objected to the presence of U.S. warships in the Indian Ocean.

The oil crisis has given added strategic importance to the Indian Ocean because tankers must pass through those waters en route to and from Persian Gulf oil lands.

Soviet Spacemen Return To Earth

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's Soyuz 13 spaceship and its two cosmonauts returned safely to earth today after a successful flight that lasted just under eight days, Tass announced.

"At all stages of the flight the systems of the Soyuz 13 spaceship and on-board scientific equipment functioned properly," the Soviet news agency reported.

A television report said Soyuz 13 made a soft landing on a snowy steppe in Kazakhstan, about 210 miles from

Heavy Rain Triggers Flooding

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Heavy thunderstorms triggered flooding in the central Gulf coast states today as rain, fog and some new snow hit widely scattered areas of the nation.

Many central Mississippi families were driven from their homes on Christmas Eve as flash floods dumped heavy rains on the area. Meridian, Miss., measured 8 inches Christmas Day added to 7 inches on Monday. Almost 150 families at Vicksburg and Laurel evacuated their homes Christmas Eve.

New Orleans, La., reported 4 inches Tuesday, while cities in Florida and Alabama were swamped with from 2 to 3 inches.

A tornado watch was posted for parts of Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana.

Lighter rains extended north-eastward through the upper Ohio Valley and the northern Atlantic coast states. Freezing rain glazed the northern Appalachians, dense fog covered New York City and an ice jam on the upper Hudson River caused some flooding.

Light snow whitened the north-eastern and west central Plains. Laramie, Wyo., received 2 inches of snow Christmas night giving it a total of 7 inches. Winds gusted around Rapid City, S.D., at 47 miles per hour.

Christmas was white this year for most of the northern half of the continent. Areas in Michigan got an extra 4 inches during the day and an added 2 inches hit parts of Minnesota and South Dakota.

Denver, Colo., was smothered with 12 inches of snow over the holiday, leaving the deepest Christmas Day accumulation in 60 years.

Cook Eyes Next Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Marlow Cook, R-Ky., says the Watergate scandals won't have much impact on his decision whether to run for re-election. But he says President Nixon's failure to clear up those scandals has done irreparable damage to the President.

The Louisville Republican hasn't yet announced whether he'll seek a second Senate term in 1974, and there have been reports he intends to give up his seat.

He called 1973 a "disastrous year for Republicans" and added that he doesn't think the disaster is over yet. "The President has to produce, but he's still procrastinating," Cook said in a Washington interview.

He refused to say whether he supports or opposes impeachment proceedings, but added that the scandals have made members of Congress "more independent" of the President.

the Baikonur space center where it was launched Dec. 18.

The crew — Maj. Pyotr Klimuk and Valentin Lebedev — got out of the spacecraft without assistance "and feel excellent," the report said.

Tass said Soyuz 13 landed at 11:50 a.m. Moscow time, or 3:50 a.m. EST.

Soyuz 13 was launched on Dec. 18 to test the spacecraft that is scheduled to link up with an American Apollo spaceship 18 months from now in 1975. With three Americans circling the globe in Skylab 3, it was the first time that the United States and the Soviet Union have had men in orbit at the same time.

Tass said Soyuz 13 landed 120 miles from Karagandain, a city in Kazakhstan.

It was the second manned Soviet space flight in three months after a lapse of more than two years. During that period scientists redesigned the Soyuz craft to correct the faults that caused the death of three cosmonauts in Soyuz 11.

U.S. space officials said the Russians made an unannounced launch of a Salyut space station on Nov. 30. They speculated that the Soyuz would link up with it, and the Soyuz was put in an almost circular orbit that has been used in the past for link-ups. But the Soviets at no time said anything about the Salyut or a link-up.

Seek Funds To Train Coal Miners

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan said today he'll ask for $1 million in federal money to help train new coal miners during the energy crisis.

"As the demand for coal increases, the industry finds itself with a shortage of trained underground coal miners," Gilligan said in a statement. "This program is designed to train 480 new employees in underground mining procedures..."

Gilligan said U.S. Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, is cooperating in the effort, which also involves the Ohio Bureau of Employment Services, the coal industry, the United Mine Workers of America union and several other state and federal agencies.

Six firms which now employ 7,800 miners in Belmont, Monroe, Harrison, Jefferson, Noble and Muskingum counties expect to hire 2,350 new miners in 1974 and 2,520 more in 1975, Gilligan said.

Gilligan said state officials anticipate the program will involve construction of a simulated mine, built above ground to duplicate working conditions in an underground mine.

Trainees would be instructed in the maintenance and operation of mining machinery, roof bolters, shuttle cars, track installation and other aspects of mining, the governor said.

He said industry officials anticipate the program not only will add to work force but will help cut down the existing turnover rate in the industry, which they say runs about 20 per cent a year.

Most Students Have Vo-Ed School Access

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — More than 87 per cent of Ohio's high school juniors and seniors have access, or will have in the near future, to vocational courses, state Education Supt. Martin W. Essex said today.

Essex said in a statement "in the last 10 years the number of high school vocational students has multiplied four times." This year, he said, 218,590 high school students are being served by 6,410 vocational classes.

The figures were developed in a year-end study of vocational education in Ohio, Essex said.

The superintendent credited the legislature with playing the key role in the effort.

"Legislative commitment to vocational education has enabled Ohio to match local dollars more rapidly than could have been anticipated at the beginning of the decade," he said.

Essex, in his report, noted: —The last session of the General Assembly appropriated more than $46 million to match local funding okayed by voters up to Feb. 6.

—Lawmakers set aside another $20 million, when it becomes available, to match funds set aside by local voters this spring for vocational education construction.

—Voters in seven districts approved vocational construction funds in May and another district okayed similar spending in a special election in April. Five more districts okayed vocational funding in November.

Essex said a recent job placement survey showed, three months after completion of courses, 71 per cent of the state's vocational education graduates were employed fulltime in a field related to their training. Only six per cent of the graduates were unemployed, he said.

Ismet Inonu Dies At 89 In Turkey

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Turkish flags flew at half staff today in memory of Ismet Inonu, the country's elder statesman.

Inonu, 89, who served as president, premier and foreign minister during his long political career, died at his home Tuesday. He had been confined to bed since suffering a heart attack 10 days ago.

The date of the funeral was not announced immediately, but the government said Inonu would be buried alongside the mausoleum of Kemal Ataturk, his leader in the Young Turks' revolt after World War I and the founder of the Turkish republic.

Inonu was Ataturk's premier in 1923-24 and from 1925 to 1937. Upon Ataturk's death in 1938 Inonu succeeded him as president.

He kept Turkey neutral in World War II, then lined up with the Western bloc because the Soviet Union was demanding territory and control of the Turkish Strait.

He authorized the country's first genuinely free elections in 1950, but lost and was swept out of power by the Democrat party.

A decade later, Inonu returned to power as premier of a coalition government in 1961. He smashed coup attempts in 1962 and 1963 and stayed in office until 1964 despite two cabinet overthrows that required him to put together new coalitions.

Inonu's career in active politics ended in mid-1971 when a democratic socialist faction won control of the Republican People's party that he had founded. Inonu resigned as chairman of the party and entered the senate.

Inonu is survived by his widow and three children.

Ferry Sinks; 150 Killed

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador (AP) — Ecuadorian officials say the ferry Jambeli had twice as many passengers aboard as it was licensed to carry when it sank, drowning more than 150 persons.

At least 142 of the passengers, mostly market women and their children, were rescued or swam ashore after Monday's disaster on the Guayas River estuary. But authorities say the number of missing still has not been determined.

The old, 95-foot wooden cargo vessel was allowed a maximum of 150 passengers, and only 84 were registered for the 75-mile trip from Puerto Bolivar to Guayaquil. But officials said more than 300 persons were aboard along with 600 drums of butter.

The ferry sank between Punta Mandinga and Isla Nueva.

The newspaper El Telegrafo said the sinking was so sudden that the captain had no time to radio an SOS. First word of the tragedy came from a survivor who swam ashore two hours after the ferry went down, the newspaper said.

Motorists Pay Plenty For Gasoline

NEW YORK (AP) — Christmas was more a headache than a holiday for motorists in the New York area who had to cope with scarce supplies, long lines and sky-high prices at gasoline stations.

One station in Brooklyn was selling gasoline for 99.9 cents a gallon — until it ran out.

At another Brooklyn gas station, cars were lined up for five blocks in each direction.

"It's outright chaos," said Harvey Stashower, a Brooklyn station owner. He said motorists had been getting into repeated quarrels over their place in line.

The 99.9 cents per gallon price was charged by a station in Brooklyn. Another Brooklyn station charged 79.9 cents a gallon.

Resignation was mixed with anger among patrons.

Robert Broadie, of Brooklyn, was incensed.

"How can you charge that much for gas? It's gotta be illegal," he said. "I was going to go out tonight, but at 99 cents a gallon, I'll buy two gallons and go back home."

Exotic Metals Plant Goes Up In Flames

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP) — Firemen were forced to stand by Tuesday as an early morning fire in an exotic metals plant in Ashtabula burned itself out.

Fire Chief Charles Moiser estimated the blaze caused $1 million in damage to the Reactive Metals Inc. plant on the east edge of Ashtabula.

Nation Nixes U.S. Navy Presence

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Malagasy Republic, dependent upon Arab nations for its oil, has rebuffed the United States by abruptly canceling a planned visit by U.S. warships.

The island republic's officials told the U.S. embassy it did not have enough fuel or berthing space at the port of Diego Suarez to accommodate destroyers from a task force operating in the Indian Ocean.

But Pentagon sources said they believe the real reason was political — that Malagasy officials feared to offend the Arabs.

A Libyan delegation was reported in the Malagasy Republic, off Africa's southeast coast, shortly before the cancellation move last week.

This was the first such rebuff since carrier-led U.S. warships entered the Indian Ocean late in October, shortly after the most recent Mideast war. That war triggered an Arab oil embargo aimed at pressuring the United States to stop supporting Israel.

The U.S. fleet has cruised the Indian Ocean only occasionally in recent years. But Secretary of Defense James R. Schlesinger said on Nov. 30, "We intend to re-establish the pattern of regular visits into the Indian Ocean, and we expect that our presence there will be more frequent and more regular than in the past."

The Indian and Tanzanian governments have objected to the presence of U.S. warships in the Indian Ocean.

The oil crisis has given added strategic importance to the Indian Ocean because tankers must pass through those waters en route to and from Persian Gulf oil lands.

Capital Demands Strong

Demands for even larger sums for capital investment in the United States could follow in the wake of the energy crisis. Some economists are concerned that the rate of savings — the greatest source of capital formation — will not be sufficient to meet the challenge.

They point to the growing cost of placing one new job in the economy. Tax Foundation estimates it now costs $27,000 in new capital for each new position. Over the last three years the rate of addition to the work force has been about 2 million jobs each year. That alone would require added capital investments of $54 billion next year.

If employment does drop off in 1974, the capital required for the new jobs which will be created will remain high. Inflation will see to that, perhaps at a higher rate next year than this. New housing starts hit a slump in 1973, largely because of high interest rates and unavailability of mortgages — another form of capital. To revive construction next year will require additional billions in savings.

The energy crunch will add its share of capital demand through less energy-consuming machines and other industrial modifications. It all adds up to a large capital drain in 1974, no matter how vibrant the economy may be.

Tennis Takes Over

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—Lord knows how many tennis racquets were given as Christmas presents this year. If Lord lost count, maybe Santa can tell us, if we can contact him. He's taken off like Pioneer 10 leaving Jupiter, by Jove. But it must have been tons of those crazy bats, because tennis has taken off like a rocket. There was a day — and I speak with a tetch of authority — when any male tennis player was the object of public scorn. Clearly he had to be a dude at heart to play a silly game like that. Passersby at a tennis court were inclined to hoot, in falsetto, "Forty love." The game was somehow related in the public's mind to homosexuality. The immortal Bugs Baer, assigned to cover an important match at Forest Hills, wrote, "William T. Tilden, the Tooth, defeated Vincent Richards in the semifinals of the mixed singles."

Actually, tennis had been undergoing a subtle change in masculinity before that, what with Maurice McLaughlin and Bill Johnston slamming their way out of San Francisco, Bill Henry speaking so well of it in his columns from Los Angeles and Washington, and the advent of the lop-eared semi-pros from the sandlots. It moved off the grass, out of the country clubs, and in the last few years has taken an astonishing hold on a great cross-section of the people.

Will Grimsley, writing in American Airlines' "American Way" magazine, gives us a hint of the inroads the once-sequestered game has made:

"Jack Nicklaus had just won golf's Tournament of Champions, a pressurized five-hour test under a hot sun with Lee Trevino spinning off birdies in front of him. He had undergone an hour's grilling in the pressroom and stood uncomfortably during a series of speeches at the presentation ceremonies at the LaCosta Country Club in California. It had been a tough day.

"Just before receiving his $40,000 first prize check, Jack summoned a friend to his side and whispered, 'Meet you at the courts in half an hour. Don't forget to pick up a racket and a pair of shoes for me.'

"So it was that two hours after millions had watched the world's No. 1 golfer score one of his most dramatic triumphs, Nicklaus was engaged in two fast-paced sets of tennis.

"I play golf for a living and I play tennis to relax," Jack said. "It's my only exercise, a great game." To pursue his pastime, Jack has built the only grass court in Florida, in the yard of his Lost Tree Village home, and he has the entire Nicklaus family playing."

Ty Cobb felt he had to apologize when Ty Cobb Jr. turned to tennis instead of baseball. But this year a Rumanian whose name Ty could never have remembered, or pronounced, Ilie Nastase, won $200,000 in tennis prize money, and half a dozen others topped $100,000, which was more than Cobb, that incredible ballplayer, or the even more incredible Babe Ruth, ever made for playing any of their enchanting years.

A nice girl named Billie Jean King (or was it Rose Mary Woods?) knocked off an old con man named Bobby Riggs in the Houston Astrodome and took home $100,000 for the night's work—plus maybe two or three times that much in commercials for this and that. Suzanne Lenglen, who invented the short skirt and was the first girl player to reveal that legs played a role in tennis, and who could have beaten the likes of Riggs at anything, including gavotte, never sneaked 100 francs in her playing life.

But that's a matter of changing times. Bill Tilden, the greatest, once was threatened with lifelong disbarment by some U.S. Lawn Tennis Associate stuffed shirt because he made so bold as to write a $50 piece for a newspaper about a tournament in which he was appearing.

A dozen reasons lie behind the surge in tennis interest, not the least of them being the styles of clothing which have been found attractive to new players. The metal racquets, considered the Edsels of the game when Emmett Pare introduced them years ago, are now considered the last word in racquet technology — until something new comes along, a uranium racquet strung with Elizabeth Taylor's hair, let's say. Most importantly, tennis clubs have sprung up all over the place, under plastic balloons, on rooftops and what not. Besides, a tennis court just fits a TV tube, Lamar Hunt's bankroll, and a public passion to cram as much exercise as possible in the least number of minutes.

Thai Government Urges Red Surrender

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Thailand said today it will propose a one-month cease-fire to allow Communist insurgents to surrender to the government.

The Defense Ministry also proposed the dissolution of the Communist Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1776, George Washington's troops captured 1,000 Hessians in the Revolutionary War battle of Trenton, N.J.

On this date: In 1805, the Peace of Pressburg was signed by Napoleon Bonaparte and the emperor of Austria.

In 1825, an uprising in the Russian army was crushed.

In 1865, James Nason of Franklin, Massachusetts was granted a patent for the first coffee percolator in the United States.

In 1917, during World War I, the U.S. government took over the operation of the nation's railroads.

In 1941, early in the Pacific War, Gen. Douglas MacArthur declared the Philippine capital of Manila an open city.

In 1943, a British task force sank the German battleship Scharnhorst off the coast of Norway.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson ordered a top-level review of the objectives and organization of the U.S. foreign aid program.

Five years ago: Arab terrorists using machine guns and grenades riddled an Israeli jetliner at the Athens, Greece airport, killing one passenger.

One year ago: Former President Harry Truman died at the age of 88 at Independence, Mo.

Today's birthdays: Entertainer Steve Allen is 52. Writer Henry Miller is 82. Writer Emmet John Hughes is 53.

Thought for today: Little progress can be made by merely attempting to repress what is evil. Our great hope lies in developing what is good—President Calvin Coolidge, 1872-1933.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

One of my friends uses thyroid gland tablets to lose weight. She gets them without a prescription and wants me to try them.

I hesitate to ask my own doctor about this because I know he will scold me and tell me just to cut down on calories.

Miss G.R., Mass.

Dear Miss R.:

You fear of being chastised may be the safeguard that has kept you from the foolish exchange of drugs.

This is always a dangerous practice. It should be obvious that drugs and dosages are always carefully prescribed to meet each individual's requirements. This is particularly important when thyroid hormone is used. The exact type and amount depends entirely on the thyroid deficiency that has previously been determined by tests.

The thyroid gland plays an important role in metabolism. Its use as a reduction technique is valid only when there is marked hypothyroidism; in other words, low thyroid activity.

Hormone products of any kind should never be an over-the-counter purchase, which is fraught with unnecessary hazards. There are many more sensible ways of losing weight. The primary one of course, is exactly what you fear your doctor will suggest: find some inner strength to enable you to cut down on your calories.

Do all medicines lose their potency if they are kept for a long time?

Mrs. T.E.G., Ill.

Dear Mrs. G.:

A patient of mine called me the other day in an absolute panic because she had noticed that the drug she had taken had passed the expiration date printed on the label.

I assured her that such panic was unnecessary. The manufacturers of drugs allow a reasonable extension of the expiration date specified.

When the expiration date has passed, drugs in tablet or capsule form may lose their potency, but they do not necessarily become dangerous.

Drugs that are in solution, however, especially those in alcohol, may tend to become stronger as the fluid evaporates. Iodine, for example, becomes stronger with age and can actually create a burn on sensitive skin.

Generally, it is a wise idea to discard the remnants of medicines from a former illness.

Garbage Gas Lights Tree

PALOS VERDES, Calif. (AP) — A lighted Christmas tree stands atop a Southern California garbage dump as a hint of things to come.

Gas formed by the decaying rubbish runs a generator which furnishes electricity for the tree's lights.

Next Christmas that same garbage may be running heaters and ovens in 2,500 nearby homes.

Beyond that? Joe Edberg, the man who harnessed the energy, says the 140-acre dump here could supply gas for 25,000 residences — perhaps for as long as 30 or 40 years. Other dumps could provide similar power, he adds.

As organic matter breaks down, it releases gases — including methane — and carbon dioxide. Because the gas smells and is a potential health hazard, it is sucked out through wells and burned.

Put On A Good Face

By JIM BISHOP

The doctor whose main concern is faces has a good one. It is round, pink, grows a modest mustache and, behind the spectacles, the eyes are creased with laugh lines. Dr. Julius Joseph is a plastic surgeon. He remodels features and parts of bodies which have become anathema to their owners.

Once he was a New York kid on the upper West Side. He has been practicing in Hollywood, Florida, for 10 years, but surgery cannot alter the New York accent. Listen carefully, and the intonation is DeWitt Clinton High School and New York University.

He might have remained there, as a general practitioner, except that the U.S. Army put him in Kingsbridge Veterans Hospital and told him to restore wounded faces and limbs to usefulness.

Plastic surgery used to be the joke of the wrinkle. The laugh was: "She had her face lifted so many times she takes her hat off to brush her teeth." Today it is a psychological and physiological branch of medicine.

Twenty per cent of such operations are performed on men. The bulk of so-called face lifts are performed on women, who believe that they should remain attractive in spite of calendars. A husband who spends $3,000 for a fur coat can get a new face for half the price. And it will wear longer.

Plastics are not used in plastic surgery. The word means to remould, remodel, resculpture. Half of Dr. Joseph's 14,000 operations have involved the remaking of faces and limbs disfigured in accidents. The other half is cosmetic, an amiable Dr. Faust restoring youth.

Breast implants are common. The crease on the underside of each breast is opened, and a small transparent round sack, full of gelatinous silicone, is pushed upward. "It is," he says, "the opposite of a falsie." The breast is larger and firmer.

The doctor does much of his work in his office, because he feels that hospital beds are needed for the seriously ill.

He traveled to Philadelphia once to alter "polly" noses on seven young men and women. His albums of before-and-after photos prove that the impossible is possible. Ugly faces — even those of women deeply scarred in automobile accidents — become pleasant to look upon.

It isn't magic, nor does Dr. Joseph ignore the work of his peers around the country. Sitting across a small desk chatting, he knows what is wrong with each feature of the patient, and how much can be done without overcorrecting.

In cases of men and women where skin has become loose and flabby, he makes an incision in the hairline from the temple to the ear, then around and underneath the lobe, up to the hairline, and down the side of the neck. Retractors pull the loose skin back. Wrinkles and wattles disappear. The excess is snipped off, the remainder sewed together in a thin pink line inside the hair.

The trick is never to pull so taut that the patient is left without expression and personality. Wives can sense when they are becoming less attractive to their husbands. They have the surgery done after much soul-searching. Aging men who are in the eye of the public are beginning to crowd the offices of plastic surgeons.

Now and then, a weird one shows up. One man, in his early 40s, wanted to look 25. Dr. Joseph did a slight face lift and a nose job. A year later, the F.B.I. was in his office. The patient was a bank robber who had everything altered but his fingerprints.

A woman on the phone said she wanted her son's sex changed. Dr. Joseph said such surgery was against the law. "You must do it, doctor," she begged. He wanted to know why, at age 16, a boy would want to switch. "He doesn't want it, but I always wanted a girl."

Another woman wanted her husband's face altered "younger or older, makes no difference." He was in trouble with the Mafia. Julius Joseph is hardly a hero. "Madame," he said gravely, "I wouldn't even trim your husband's fingernails."

The doctor is 63 and looks it. He has two-and-a-half chins. Mrs. Joseph is young. "I have a friend who does this work," he says. "Next time I go to New York I think I'll have these chins removed."

Farmers Increase Winter Wheat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers in many big corn and soybean areas boosted plantings of winter wheat last fall, apparently in response to currently high cash prices and prospects that the market again will be strong next summer.

The Agriculture Department estimated last Friday the 1974 winter wheat harvest from last fall's plantings will be a record 1.5 billion bushels, up 19 per cent from this year. Most winter wheat is grown in the Great Plains, where the crop is ideally suited to the drier climate. The big winter wheat states of Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Colorado and Nebraska, for example, will produce about half of the 1974 total.

Although those states increased wheat seedings last fall by substantial margins — from a boost of four per cent in Colorado to 22 per cent in Texas — farmers in some other areas have taken to winter wheat even more remarkably.

Using the department's method of comparing planted acreages with winter wheat seeded for harvest in 1973, the report showed farmers in Wisconsin reacted most strongly. They will have a 1974 crop acreage 335 per cent as large as this year's.

Wisconsin is a small producer of winter wheat and was predicted to harvest next year a crop of about 2.2 million bushels from 57,000 acres. But Wisconsin farmers planted only 17,000 acres a year ago.

Kansas, by contrast increased its plantings 11 per cent and will harvest an estimated 360 million bushels next year.

Iowa farmers are still corn and soybean minded. They indicated plantings of winter wheat six per cent less than a year ago. But elsewhere in the corn belt and elsewhere in the South the winter wheat picture turned brighter.

Compared with winter wheat plantings a year ago, here are some of the percentages for the winter wheat crop:

Ohio 205 per cent; Indiana 195; Illinois 130; Michigan 156; Virginia 144; North Carolina 130; South Carolina 154; Kentucky 191; Tennessee 169; Alabama 132; and Mississippi 144.

Columbus Girl Found Slain In Georgia

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Atlanta police have refused to confirm reports that a man was being held as a witness in the brutal knife slaying of 8-year-old Sherri Lynn Swalley of Columbus, Ohio.

The girl's body was found Monday in an Atlanta apartment complex. Police said she had been stabbed repeatedly in the chest.

An Atlanta radio station reported Tuesday that one man was being held as a material witness, but was not considered a suspect in the killing.

But Detective S. T. Hinshaw refused to confirm the report, and said he had "no comment" on it.

"We are questioning people with any knowledge, but we don't have any suspects yet," Hinshaw said.

"It's just general questioning of everybody that might have any kind of knowledge whatsoever," he said. "So far we have talked to at least 50 people concerning it."

The young girl, her father and brother were on their way to Disney World in Orlando, Fla., when they stopped in Atlanta because of the Sunday closing of gas stations, police said.

They arranged to stay at the apartment of a friend in northwest Atlanta.

The child was seen playing with other children in the complex Sunday evening, but disappeared later.

Her partially-clad body was found in a clearing behind the complex about 10:30 a.m. Monday. Police said she was killed on a wooded hillside about 20 yards from where her body was found. Her clothing and underclothing were found in that area.

Man Slays Bus Driver

NEW BOSTON, Tex. (AP) — A knife-wielding passenger fatally wounded the driver of a cross-country bus as he drove along a highway near here with about 20 passengers aboard, authorities said.

Deputy Sheriff Willie Huff said driver Billy Fred Young managed to edge his Continental Trailways bus off U.S. 82 and bring it to a stop while struggling with his assailant Christmas night. Then the driver stumbled out of the bus and collapsed. No passengers were injured.

A woman who had been sitting behind the driver told authorities an argument developed between Young and a male passenger, and the man pulled a knife and stabbed the driver. Officers using horses and dogs searched a wooded area north of here today for the man sought in the slaying. He was not identified.

Young was a retired city fireman from Texarkana, Tex. The bus was on a Memphis-to-Los Angeles run.

Irish Bombings End For Yule

LONDON (AP) — Christmas night passed peacefully in London and Northern Ireland after guerrilla bombs on Christmas Eve that killed three persons and injured 42.

The only casualty reported on Christmas Day was a 63-year-old Belfast woman. She was shot in the mouth when she got caught in a crossfire between gunmen and British troops in the Roman Catholic New Lodge district.

London was quiet Christmas for the first day since Irish guerrillas launched a bomb blitz nine days ago that injured 78 people in 23 explosions. Bombs went off Christmas Eve in two crowded taverns in the Hampstead section, injuring seven persons.

Scotland Yard said its 120-man bomb squad was remaining on full alert with all leaves canceled. The day after Christmas is also a holiday in Britain.

Christmas Eve brought Northern Ireland its worst single bomb incident in nearly seven months. Three persons were killed and 34 were wounded when a bomb went off prematurely in a Catholic-owned tavern in Newry, on the border with the Irish Republic.

Police said two teen-age members of the Irish Republican Army entered the bar with the bomb in a shoebox and warned everyone to get out. But the bomb exploded as the crowd rushed for the doors, killing the two IRA men and a Protestant customer.

More than 50 IRA men have blown themselves up in the four and a half years of Catholic-Protestant warfare in Northern Ireland. The confirmed death toll in the fighting now stands at 925.

Violence in Newry and Belfast early Tuesday included firebomb attacks on stores and businesses. And fists and rocks flew in Belfast during the day when 200 Catholics demanding an end to internment of suspected IRA members clashed with troops downtown. Two demonstrators were arrested.

Barn Fire Loss Near $200,000

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP)— Damage may run as high as $175,000 to $200,000 in a fire that swept through a barn near Ravenna overnight, the Ravenna Fire Department reported.

The fire on the Robert Mills farm destroyed 80 head of cattle plus farm equipment, firemen said.

The blaze was reported about 9 p.m. Tuesday and the last firemen did not leave until shortly after dawn today.

Units from Mantua, Hiram, Garrettsville and Kent, in addition to Ravenna, battled the fire.

Columbus Girl Found Slain In Georgia

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Atlanta police have refused to confirm reports that a man was being held as a witness in the brutal knife slaying of 8-year-old Sherri Lynn Swalley of Columbus, Ohio.

The girl's body was found Monday in an Atlanta apartment complex. Police said she had been stabbed repeatedly in the chest.

An Atlanta radio station reported Tuesday that one man was being held as a material witness, but was not considered a suspect in the killing.

But Detective S. T. Hinshaw refused to confirm the report, and said he had "no comment" on it.

"We are questioning people with any knowledge, but we don't have any suspects yet," Hinshaw said.

"It's just general questioning of everybody that might have any kind of knowledge whatsoever," he said. "So far we have talked to at least 50 people concerning it."

The young girl, her father and brother were on their way to Disney World in Orlando, Fla., when they stopped in Atlanta because of the Sunday closing of gas stations, police said.

They arranged to stay at the apartment of a friend in northwest Atlanta.

The child was seen playing with other children in the complex Sunday evening, but disappeared later.

Her partially-clad body was found in a clearing behind the complex about 10:30 a.m. Monday. Police said she was killed on a wooded hillside about 20 yards from where her body was found. Her clothing and underclothing were found in that area.

Man Slays Bus Driver

NEW BOSTON, Tex. (AP) — A knife-wielding passenger fatally wounded the driver of a cross-country bus as he drove along a highway near here with about 20 passengers aboard, authorities said.

Deputy Sheriff Willie Huff said driver Billy Fred Young managed to edge his Continental Trailways bus off U.S. 82 and bring it to a stop while struggling with his assailant Christmas night. Then the driver stumbled out of the bus and collapsed. No passengers were injured.

A woman who had been sitting behind the driver told authorities an argument developed between Young and a male passenger, and the man pulled a knife and stabbed the driver.

Officers using horses and dogs searched a wooded area north of here today for the man sought in the slaying. He was not identified.

Young was a retired city fireman from Texarkana, Tex. The bus was on a Memphis-to-Los Angeles run.

Irish Bombings End For Yule

LONDON (AP) — Christmas night passed peacefully in London and Northern Ireland after guerrilla bombs on Christmas Eve that killed three persons and injured 42.

The only casualty reported on Christmas Day was a 63-year-old Belfast woman. She was shot in the mouth when she got caught in a crossfire between gunmen and British troops in the Roman Catholic New Lodge district.

London was quiet Christmas for the first day since Irish guerrillas launched a bomb blitz nine days ago that injured 78 people in 23 explosions. Bombs went off Christmas Eve in two crowded taverns in the Hampstead section, injuring seven persons.

Scotland Yard said its 120-man bomb squad was remaining on full alert with all leaves canceled. The day after Christmas is also a holiday in Britain.

Christmas Eve brought Northern Ireland its worst single bomb incident in nearly seven months. Three persons were killed and 34 were wounded when a bomb went off prematurely in a Catholic-owned tavern in Newry, on the border with the Irish Republic.

Police said two teen-age members of the Irish Republican Army entered the bar with the bomb in a shoebox and warned everyone to get out. But the bomb exploded as the crowd rushed for the doors, killing the two IRA men and a Protestant customer.

More than 50 IRA men have blown themselves up in the four and a half years of Catholic-Protestant warfare in Northern Ireland. The confirmed death toll in the fighting now stands at 925.

Violence in Newry and Belfast early Tuesday included firebomb attacks on stores and businesses. And fists and rocks flew in Belfast during the day when 200 Catholics demanding an end to internment of suspected IRA members clashed with troops downtown. Two demonstrators were arrested.

Barn Fire Loss Near $200,000

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP)— Damage may run as high as $175,000 to $200,000 in a fire that swept through a barn near Ravenna overnight, the Ravenna Fire Department reported.

The fire on the Robert Mills farm destroyed 80 head of cattle plus farm equipment, firemen said.

The blaze was reported about 9 p.m. Tuesday and the last firemen did not leave until shortly after dawn today.

Units from Mantua, Hiram, Garrettsville and Kent, in addition to Ravenna, battled the fire.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Who's Getting Married?

DEAR ABBY: I am 35 years old, and am being married for the first time. My fiancé is 45, and this will be his second marriage. My fiancé's father has been in a convalescent home for four years and his mother doesn't want any kind of wedding at all.

My mother is a widow and I am an only child, and we want something we can remember. It wouldn't be a big wild celebration, but I would like my relatives there, plus a few friends, totaling about 50 or 60. My fiancé's mother said she doesn't think we should have any music at all. Abby, her husband is still living, although he is partially paralyzed from a stroke, and I don't see why music would be objectionable. I can't imagine a wedding with no music at all.

Also, his mother said she doesn't want to get "all dressed up" because she is not in a celebrating mood.

Finally, she said if we really want to make her happy, we should ask the rabbi to come to her husband's bedside and perform the ceremony there, with only the witnesses!

Please, please, tell me how to deal with her Abby. She is making what should be the happiest day of my life the most miserable.

IN TEARS IN L.A.

DEAR IN: I assume your fiancé's father isn't at death's door. In that case, go ahead and have the kind of wedding you want, and afterwards call on his ailing father and take him a piece of wedding cake.

DEAR ABBY: Does a person have the right to punish someone else's child? Yes or no?

WANTS TO KNOW

DEAR WANTS: What do you mean by the "right"? If you mean the legal right, that would depend upon where you live. In some places it's against the law to lay a hand on another person's child. Also, what do you mean by "punish"? Do you mean rap his knuckles or belt him one?

DEAR ABBY: While sitting under the hair dryer in a beauty parlor, a lady seated next to me lit a cigaret. I turned to her and politely said: "Please don't smoke near me, it makes me nauseous."

She replied in a snippy tone: "This is a public place, and I don't see any 'No Smoking' signs anywhere, so if my smoke bothers you, why don't YOU move?"

Yule Trees To Become Earth Mulch

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— This winter's Christmas tree could help grow next spring's daffodils in a program to recycle used evergreens.

Columbus and other cities in Ohio are working with the state Environmental Protection Agency to gather the trees and use them as mulch in gardens.

Officials say it will take a little effort to insure trees have no metal on them before putting them out for collection.

Clayton Knepley, chairman of the citizens' committee which is coordinating the recycling effort in Columbus, said it is the second year residents have participated.

About 50 other cities joined the project last year. Mulch is provided to homeowners after the trees are recycled.

Knepley said the recycling "saves a tremendous amount of landfill space." The Christmas trees make poor landfill because they're hard to compact, he said.

Knepley said Columbus homeowners can participate by cleaning their trees of metal and placing them outside for collection beginning Jan. 7.

City sanitation crews will collect the trees while making regular collections. Then, the trees will be run through a chipper and the resulting mulch will be distributed at the three city locations on the weekends of Jan. 19 and Jan. 26, Knepley said.

I then said: "I think it's YOUR place to move since you are the one who is causing the problem, but I've been taught to respect my elders, so I will move." With that I moved, but I noticed that she immediately went to the desk girl and reported the incident.

When I paid my bill the desk girl told me I shouldn't have been so insolent to that woman. Abby, do you think I was insolent? She looked to be about 50, and I am 30.

OFF MY CHEST

DEAR OFF: No. More people should screw up the courage to complain to smokers who offend them by polluting the atmosphere.

DEAR ABBY: I am a registered nurse interested in working on the hospital ship "S.S. Hope," but I don't know where to write for information about it. Can you help me?

J.G. McN.

DEAR J.G.: Write to Hope Project, 2233 Wisconsin Av. N. W., Washington DC. 20007.

Guyer Pushes New Search For MIAs

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP)—U.S. Rep. Tennyson Guyer, R-Ohio, says the problem of soldiers missing in action in Indochina must be kept in the spotlight if an accounting is to be made.

Guyer said Tuesday he will meet with families of the MIAs next week to "reassure them that someone does care."

The Ohio Republican lawmaker is a member of the House Committee on Foreign affairs. He said he will convey a letter to the families from Secretary of State Henry Kissinger expressing Kissinger's concern for the MIAs.

Guyer claims the families need support, but they are not downhearted.

"I think from the kind of letters that we've gotten that there's even a stronger belief that some of these fellows are still alive and that there's a chance of getting them home," he said.

However, Guyer said "If we ever write these people off, their chances of getting back are practically nil."

"If there's anything our government can do, we should do it," he said.

Guyer said he has been in touch with families in the Columbus area and tentatively set a meeting for next week.

At a meeting, Guyer said he will give the group a United States flag which flew over the Capitol in Washington. In addition, he said he will deliver the letter Kissinger handed to him before leaving for the Middle East.

In the letter, Kissinger asked Guyer to convey his "personal concern . . . about this serious subject."

"I have repeatedly made clear the importance we attach to obtaining the fullest possible accounting for all our missing men. You have my assurance that our efforts will continue with the most serious determination," Kissinger wrote.

Seven food service operations were inspected for compliance with Food Service laws. Conferences were held with operators. A news letter was prepared for the food service operators and applications for their operation 1974 were mailed.

Questionnaires on sewage and water systems of trailer parks were mailed to the operators with applications for their 1974 license. Data from these questionnaires will help formulate an improvement policy in the future.

Due to increasing state-wide concern for water and sewage disposal in rural food service operations, permits for operation of these facilities begin Jan. 1. These will be in conjunction with their food service license and no action is needed by the Board of Health to institute the program.

Barnhill made thirty-one site investigations with the Department of Natural Resources for pre-building evaluations. He issued eight permits for the installation of home sewage systems, and received eight applications for home sewage installations. Fifty-five office consultations were conducted in the sanitation department.

Members of the Board of Health resolved that the furnace thermostat be kept at 70 degrees and County cars are to maintain the fifty-five mile per hour speed limit. Efforts to conserve energy are to be made wherever possible.

The next meeting of the Board will be held Jan. 29.

Blaney inspected three properties in deplorable condition which the department had received complaints about.

Blaney also met with Department of Natural Resource representatives on hog feeding installation. He met with the Subdivision Review Board which reviewed six subdivision plots.

Mr. Hugh Barnhill, sanitarian, reported that he had completed ten trailer park inspections. Conferences were held with the operators to explain violation. Samples of water were collected for examination and all were safe for human consumption.

Seven food service operations were inspected for compliance with Food Service laws. Conferences were held with operators. A news letter was prepared for the food service operators and applications for their operation 1974 were mailed.

Questionnaires on sewage and water systems of trailer parks were mailed to the operators with applications for their 1974 license. Data from these questionnaires will help formulate an improvement policy in the future.

Due to increasing state-wide concern for water and sewage disposal in rural food service operations, permits for operation of these facilities begin Jan. 1. These will be in conjunction with their food service license and no action is needed by the Board of Health to institute the program.

Barnhill made thirty-one site investigations with the Department of Natural Resources for pre-building evaluations. He issued eight permits for the installation of home sewage systems, and received eight applications for home sewage installations. Fifty-five office consultations were conducted in the sanitation department.

Members of the Board of Health resolved that the furnace thermostat be kept at 70 degrees and County cars are to maintain the fifty-five mile per hour speed limit. Efforts to conserve energy are to be made wherever possible.

The next meeting of the Board will be held Jan. 29.

Guyer Pushes New Search For MIAs

FINLAY, Ohio (AP)—U.S. Rep. Tennyson Guyer, R-Ohio, says the problem of soldiers missing in action in Indochina must be kept in the spotlight if an accounting is to be made.

Guyer said Tuesday he will meet with families of the MIAs next week to "reassure them that someone does care."

The Ohio Republican lawmaker is a member of the House Committee on Foreign Affairs. He said he will convey a letter to the families from Secretary of State Henry Kissinger expressing Kissinger's concern for the MIAs.

Guyer claims the families need support, but they are not downhearted. "I think from the kind of letters that we've gotten that there's even a stronger belief that some of these fellows are still alive and that there's a chance of getting them home," he said.

However, Guyer said "If we ever write these people off, their chances of getting back are practically nil."

"If there's anything our government can do, we should do it," he said.

Guyer said he has been in touch with families in the Columbus area and tentatively set a meeting for next week.

At a meeting, Guyer said he will give the group a United States flag which flew over the Capitol in Washington. In addition, he said he will deliver the letter Kissinger handed to him before leaving for the Middle East.

In the letter, Kissinger asked Guyer to convey his "personal concern . . . about this serious subject."

"I have repeatedly made clear the importance we attach to obtaining the fullest possible accounting for all our missing men. You have my assurance that our efforts will continue with the most serious determination," Kissinger wrote.

During the holiday season, many of us will take the time to reflect on the year's events and make a special point of counting our blessings. For the nation, 1973 has not been a particularly easy year and some might think there are few blessings for America to count.

I strongly disagree with such a negative view and would like to share with you the thoughts of another who counts this country among the world's greatest blessings. He is not even an American, but a Canadian broadcaster, Mr. Gordon Sinclair.

Mr. Sinclair believes that Americans are the most generous and possibly the least appreciated people in all the earth and claims he can cite at least 5,000 instances where our country's good will and help to our friends in need has meant the difference in a life and death struggle.

What I would add to Mr. Sinclair's remarks is that there are many Americans who have been among our greatest critics. While they have every right to speak their minds of their disappointments and disillusion with this country, I think they are missing the point.

We truly have difficulties in this country both at home and abroad. There is an uneasy peace in southeast Asia and Secretary of State Kissinger is at this moment working tirelessly to help alleviate the critically dangerous situation in the Middle East. Americans are trying, then, to help bring and keep that peace on earth we cherish so highly and commemorate so significantly during this holiday season. It is perhaps our biggest challenge, and it is not one which is easily conquered. Count among our blessings the fact that we still have the desire and the fortitude to pursue this most important and sometimes seemingly elusive goal.

At home, we have economy and energy problems which the doom-sayers predict will do America in. To be sure, both of these matters are very serious. We may be headed for a recession because of the effects of the energy shortage on our economy. No doubt, there will be fewer presents under the Christmas tree and fewer lights on it as one indication of how we must sacrifice in many ways to overcome these problems.

Neither will be solved overnight, but here in Washington and throughout the United States, we are working to solve them. Final passage of one of the most important energy bills is pending before the adjournment of the First Session of the 93rd Congress. Congress is also in the process of re-examining its budget system to make it more responsible and to keep federal spending within the limits of its revenues. Count among our blessings the fact that while the cost of just about everything has gone up, the price of American citizenship is still the same: it is as free as ever.

Our political scandals have also taken their toll, but I still maintain, as I have from the outset, that the system is cleansing itself. When we lost one vice president, he was succeeded by another — one of the most revered, honest and capable men in the Congress, Jerry Ford. And, slowly but surely, those guilty of criminal wrongdoing will be punished and

County Cage Action Starts Thursday At LE

There will be plenty of cage action on tap for county basketball fans this week with Logan Elm hosting its second annual Holiday Tournament and Teays Valley meeting Olentangy

UCLA Leads Cage Rankings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
If you thought that 81 straight victories might impress voters in The Associated Press college basketball poll, you were absolutely right.

UCLA's awesome winning streak earned the Bruins unanimous designation for the second straight week as the nation's No. 1 team in this week's poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

Coach John Wooden's team, which has added six victories this season to its string of successes, received 52 first place votes in this week's balloting and totaled 1,040 points, more than 200 better than second-place Maryland.

The AP panel gave Maryland 800 points and kept Notre Dame in third place with 754 points and North Carolina fourth with 701. North Carolina State was No. 5 with 577 points.

The first nine slots remained unchanged from last week with No. 6 Marquette, No. 7 Indiana, eighth-place Louisville and ninth Providence following in order.

After that, the teams were scrambled with only 68 points separating the next five teams from 10th place Long Beach State to No. 14 Southern California.

The closest battle in the poll came for 13th place where Alabama totaled 122 points, one more than Southern Cal. Vanderbilt was No. 11, but only by a scant 10 points over No. 12 Arizona, 165-155.

Syracuse finished 15th, just seven points ahead of Memphis State.

Three of the last four teams listed are newcomers to the poll this week. New Mexico showed up in 17th position, Kansas State, which lost twice last week, slipped from No. 13 to No. 18, while other newcomers were Nevada-Las Vegas, No. 19 and Austin Peay No. 20.

The Top Twenty, with firstplace votes in parentheses, season records and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

Steve Luke Pulls Off Grid Switch

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Steve Luke of Ohio State has successfully pulled one of the toughest switches in Rose Bowl football history.

A year ago, Luke was the Buckeyes' starting offensive center. Now he will open at defensive halfback against Southern California on New Year's Day.

"I was surprised the coaches wanted me to switch, but I was willing to give it a try," said the 6-foot-2, 197-pound junior.

"I was very nervous last year. I don't feel the pressure this time near as much," Luke said Tuesday.

Coach Woody Hayes gave the Big Ten Conference co-champions Christmas off before resuming practice today at Citrus Junior College.

Luke began his position switch during spring drills and adapted so well that he led the deep backs in tackles with 50 in 10 regular season games.

"Center is a lot more physical," he said, comparing the two positions. "As a deep back, you have to be mentally alert. You have to learn how to read keys on the other side's blocking."

He continued, "But I think the toughest problem is guarding against the pass. I played linebacker in high school. There I only had to watch for short passes, though, never anything deep."

Trout Lake In 2 Levels Developed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Would you like to build a second story in your lake and rent it out to some trout?

Dr. Richard A. Tubb of Ohio State University, a zoologist with a long friendship with fish, says you can. The secret is liquid oxygen.

"Every deep lake is a potential trout pond," said Tubb.

He based his belief on an experiment this year at a 1.5-acre state-owned quarry at Ottoville, Ohio, where he kept trout alive and thriving at depths they never survived before.

Moreover, the system may help rejuvenate lakes now plugged up with algae and surface plant growth.

The problem with two-story lakes and quarries — where warm water fish like bass, bluegills and bullheads live upstairs near the surface and cold water fish like trout live downstairs near the bottom — is oxygen.

Fish near the surface get oxygen from the water as it is, but trout need both cold water and five parts of oxygen per million. They can't stay near the surface during the heat of summer and below 15 to 20 feet the amount of dissolved oxygen in the water isn't enough to sustain trout life.

Tubb began trying to increase the level of oxygen in the Ottoville quarry in 1969 by simple aeration. He tried directing compressed air to various levels.

The Holiday Tournament gets underway Thursday with Logan Elm and Westfall meeting in the opening game

The Braves are sporting a 3-3 mark on the season while Westfall is holding a 1-4 mark on the year.

The selection of an all-tournament team and the naming of a most valuable player will follow the championship game.

A reserve tournament will also be held Thursday and Friday afternoons in the Spangler Memorial gym. Westfall and Logan Elm will clash at 1 p.m. Thursday with the Aces meeting Trace at 2:30 p.m. The consolation game is set for 1 p.m. Friday with the championship contest getting underway at 2:30 p.m.

The Logan Elm Booster Club will hold a "jitney supper" from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. in the school cafeteria. It is open to the public.

South Rips North In Shrine Tilt

MIAMI (AP) — Pepper Rodgers says a ruling by officials took some of the fun out of coaching the South to a 27-6 victory over the North in the Mahi Shrine All-Star football game.

Rodgers decided to live up the Christmas night contest by sending sheets of paper diagramming plays into huddles.

"We used it four or five times and then, the officials wouldn't let me do it. They said it was a mechanical aid," said Rodgers, who moved from UCLA to Georgia Tech after the 1973 season ended.

"It didn't make any difference ... but it took the fun and enthusiasm out of the game. They said it was against the rules. But we weren't playing by the rules anyway."

Special game rules placed kickoffs at the 35 instead of the 40-yard line, requiring them to be run back, returned the ball to scrimmage instead of the 20 on missed field goals and allowed a team trailing by three points to receive the ball after scoring.

The rules didn't affect the game, but sparse, four-day workouts did as the North lost four of six fumbles and the South three of eight.

Eastern Kentucky's Alfred Thompson and North Carolina's Sam Johnson each ran four yards and North Carolina State's Willie Burden one yard for South touchdowns and Wake Forest's Chuck Ramsey kicked 32 and 38 yard field goals for the South. The North scored on field goals of 37 and 32 yards by Xavier of Ohio's John Phillips.

Pratt And Gould Traded By Sabres

BUFFALO (AP) — Defenseman Tracy Pratt and left winger John Gould of the Buffalo Sabres have been traded to the Vancouver Canucks for left winger Jerry Korab, it was announced Tuesday.

Spokesmen for the National Hockey League clubs said the trade was a straight two-for-one player swap. An earlier report that the Canucks were sending a "player to be named later" to Buffalo was incorrect, they said.

Holiday Basketball Tournaments Open

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Indiana Hoosiers are way out West and the Providence Friars are somewhere over the Rainbow.

They're among several highly-rated college basketball teams playing today in farflung holiday tournaments.

Indiana, the nation's seventh-ranked team, is favored to win the Far West Classic in Portland, Ore. Providence, No. 9, is the pick in the Rainbow Classic in Honolulu.

The tournament tempo picks up across the land and before the Christmas week is over, more than 600 teams will have played in over 125 affairs.

Such exotic names as the Winged Foot Classic and Blue Devil Classic are on the holiday menu, but only 38 tournaments are classified as major by the National Collegiate Athletic Association. The Far West and Rainbow Classics are among the majors.

Along with Indiana the Far West field has Army, West Virginia, Brigham Young, Oregon State, Oregon, Texas and Washington.

The Rainbow, also an eightteam, four-day tourney, includes — along with Providence — Hawaii, Purdue, St. Joseph's, Pa., Santa Clara, Washington State, Tennessee and Sub-Pac.

Among the other major events are the All-College Tournament in Oklahoma City; the Big Eight Tournament in Kansas City; the ECAC Holiday Festival in New York, and the Quaker City Classic in Philadelphia.

Southern California, ranked No. 14, will be among the field in the All-College affair. Houston, Weber State, Oklahoma City, Oral Roberts, Rutgers, Southwest Texas and Virginia Tech, winner of the NIT last year, are the other All-College participants.

Kentucky Wesleyan Remains Atop Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kentucky Wesleyan survived a stern testing by Evansville and retained the top spot in The Associated Press college division basketball poll released today.

Kentucky Wesleyan, the defending NCAA college division champion, edged Evansville 82-81 and also crushed Buffalo State 113-78 and Carson-Newman 110-81 last week. The Panthers, 7-0, remained on top with 22 first place votes and 538 total points.

Tennessee State, 4-1, idle last week, moved from third to second, replacing Kentucky State, which slid down one place after losing to Northwood, Ind. 92-84. Tennessee State tallied 444 points, while Kentucky State had 329 and two first-place votes.

Evansville, 4-2, moved up to fourth despite losing twice, to the Panthers and Texas-El Paso, while Alcorn A&M, now 7-0, went from sixth to fifth. Evansville received 319 votes while Alcorn A&M had 311.

Southeastern Louisiana, 3-1, dropped from fourth to sixth after losing to McNeese, but still received two first-place votes and a total of 211 points.

Sam Houston St., No. 1 in the final AP poll last season, was rated seventh with a 5-2 record. Old Dominion, 3-2, was eighth, Bentley, last week's No. 11, jumped into the ninth position with a 6-0 record and Augustana, Ill., 5-1, which last year finished as runnerup in the poll, rounded out the Top Ten.

Completing the Top 15 were Assumption, 3-2; Roanoke, 5-3; Wittenberg 4-1; Coe College 5-2, and the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga, 4-0, the only new team in this week's poll.

There will be plenty of cage action on tap for county basketball fans this week with Logan Elm hosting its second annual Holiday Tournament and Teays Valley meeting Olentangy

UCLA Leads Cage Rankings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
If you thought that 81 straight victories might impress voters in The Associated Press college basketball poll, you were absolutely right.

UCLA's awesome winning streak earned the Bruins unanimous designation for the second straight week as the nation's No. 1 team in this week's poll of sports writers and broadcasters.

Coach John Wooden's team, which has added six victories this season to its string of successes, received 52 first place votes in this week's balloting and totaled 1,040 points, more than 200 better than second-place Maryland.

The AP panel gave Maryland 800 points and kept Notre Dame in third place with 754 points and North Carolina fourth with 701. North Carolina State was No. 5 with 577 points.

The first nine slots remained unchanged from last week with No. 6 Marquette, No. 7 Indiana, eighth-place Louisville and ninth Providence following in order.

After that, the teams were scrambled with only 68 points separating the next five teams from 10th place Long Beach State to No. 14 Southern California.

The closest battle in the poll came for 13th place where Alabama totaled 122 points, one more than Southern Cal. Vanderbilt was No. 11, but only by a scant 10 points over No. 12 Arizona, 165-155.

Syracuse finished 15th, just seven points ahead of Memphis State.

Three of the last four teams listed are newcomers to the poll this week. New Mexico showed up in 17th position, Kansas State, which lost twice last week, slipped from No. 13 to No. 18, while other newcomers were Nevada-Las Vegas, No. 19 and Austin Peay No. 20.

The Top Twenty, with first place votes in parentheses, season records and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1.

Steve Luke Pulls Off Grid Switch

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Steve Luke of Ohio State has successfully pulled one of the toughest switches in Rose Bowl football history.

A year ago, Luke was the Buckeyes' starting offensive center. Now he will open at defensive halfback against Southern California on New Year's Day.

"I was surprised the coaches wanted me to switch, but I was willing to give it a try," said the 6-foot-2, 197-pound junior.

"I was very nervous last year. I don't feel the pressure this time near as much," Luke said Tuesday.

Coach Woody Hayes gave the Big Ten Conference co-champions Christmas off before resuming practice today at Citrus Junior College.

Luke began his position switch during spring drills and adapted so well that he led the deep backs in tackles with 50 in 10 regular season games.

"Center is a lot more physical," he said, comparing the two positions. "As a deep back, you have to be mentally alert. You have to learn how to read keys on the other side's blocking."

He continued, "But I think the toughest problem is guarding against the pass. I played linebacker in high school. There I only had to watch for short passes, though, never anything deep."

Trout Lake In 2 Levels Developed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Would you like to build a second story in your lake and rent it out to some trout?

Dr. Richard A. Tubb of Ohio State University, a zoologist with a long friendship with fish, says you can. The secret is liquid oxygen.

"Every deep lake is a potential trout pond," said Tubb.

He based his belief on an experiment this year at a 1.5-acre state-owned quarry at Ottoville, Ohio, where he kept trout alive and thriving at depths they never survived before.

Moreover, the system may help rejuvenate lakes now plugged up with algae and surface plant growth.

The problem with two-story lakes and quarries — where warm water fish like bass, bluegills and bullheads live upstairs near the surface and cold water fish like trout live downstairs near the bottom — is oxygen.

Fish near the surface get oxygen from the water as it is, but trout need both cold water and five parts of oxygen per million. They can't stay near the surface during the heat of summer and below 15 to 20 feet the amount of dissolved oxygen in the water isn't enough to sustain trout life.

Tubb began trying to increase the level of oxygen in the Ottoville quarry in 1969 by simple aeration. He tried directing compressed air to various levels.

Customers Give Couple Florida Trip

DETROIT (AP) — Joe and Margie Jeremias are going south for the winter, thanks to their former grocery store customers.

The Jeremias, Hungarians who came to the United States during the worst of the Depression, sold their little store last month.

After word of the sale got around, they received round trip tickets to Florida and more than $1,000 in spending money from the customers had they served.

"We never expected anything like this," Jeremias said. "We just tried to give people what they wanted: quality, service and a fair price."

The store is on the city's northwest side. Businesses just a block away were burned during riots that swept the city in 1967.

"We thought we might lose everything, but our store wasn't touched," Jeremias said. "I think its

Jail Inmates Get Holiday Calls

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Christmas cheer came in the form of an unexpected phone call for 14 inmates of the Hamilton County Jail.

The 14 were among 250 prisoners allowed to make five-minute phone calls home. Inmates from the Cincinnati area are normally allowed to make a call, but Sheriff Paul Fricker consented to let out-of-town prisoners call home, too.

"He thought it would be a nice Christmas present," said a jail dispatcher.

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Investigation continued today in wake of the weekend recovery of two Rembrandt paintings and the arrest of three young Ohio men charged with receiving stolen property. Police continued to attempt to track down the persons responsible for the armed robbery of the two paintings from Taft Museum a week ago. "We're still pursuing several leads," a member of the Cincinnati burglary division said late Tuesday. More than $99,000 of an $100,000 ransom paid for one of the paintings has been recovered, police said. Police have charged Carl Horsley, 21; Raymond McDonough, 21, and Henry Dawn, 22, all of Loveland, with receiving stolen property. They were among 10 persons jailed

Sunday. The others were released. Central figure in the recovery of the paintings was James Hough, who said the museum agreed to a finder's fee of $15,000 for his assistance. Museum representative John Warrington Monday denied any agreement for that figure. "He did everything he said he would," said Warrington, "but that figure is his, not ours." The thieves threatened to burn the painting "Man Leaning on a Sill" if their demands for $100,000 ransom were not met by Saturday. Hough's entry into the case remains something of a mystery. The modeling Cincinnati native said he happened onto information which led to contact with the thieves within 24 hours after the robbery.

Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — If you have rules for your children's television viewing you have some company among the people who make the shows.

Carol Burnett has strict bedtime hours for her three daughters and doesn't let them watch anything scary. James McEachin, the star of "Tenafly," doesn't like his children to see shows with sex or violence.

Actually, the rules, or lack of them, among the performers, writers, directors and producers probably vary as much as they do with the public.

John Rich, the producer and director of "All in the Family," said he doesn't have any rules yet for his children, aged 6 and 4. "They've found their level in watching 'Sesame Street,'" he said.

"The only rule I impose is that if they find something they particularly like I make it a point to watch it with them. So I can be there to discuss it with them."

Mike Connors of "Mannix," who has two teen-agers, said, "I had rules when they were younger. But not now. If I know that there's something really smutty—but TV is fairly well censored. I think they're getting to an age when they can fairly well watch what they want."

Miss Burnett said her young children like "The Partridge Family" and "The Brady Bunch." She said, "I must say these shows usually have a good moral. They might seem to adults to be too pat, but to a child they're very good. 'Room 222' is another good one I like the kids to watch."

McEachin said, "I prefer that they watch shows with no violence. I was in a show where I was supposed to die and it had a bad effect on my children. They couldn't fathom that it was a character on the screen and you're sitting there in the living room."

"I don't let them sit up late and I don't think they should watch shows heavy with sex and violence. There's nothing good made more precious than childhood and I say while they're children let them remain children."

Connors said, "I know all about the hue and cry over violence. I don't feel there's too much violence on television. I think to allow kids to think it's one big bowl of cherries, that everything is comedy and fluff, is as bad as showing too much violence."

Director Robert Michael Lewis and his wife, writer Rita Lakin, said they have no rules for their four children, the youngest of whom is 13. Lewis said, "I think children are emotionally predisposed to behave as they do because of the environment in the home—not because of what they see on TV. If TV can be accused of anything, it's making death too pretty. It never shows the aftermath of violence."

Elderly Couple Dies In Cold Home

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — Police are awaiting an autopsy report on an elderly couple found dead in their home four days after a power company shut off the heat because they failed to pay their bills.

"There was no heat in the house, but you can't really say it was exposure until there's an autopsy," police said Tuesday night. The deaths appeared to be from natural causes, investigators said.

A grandson forced his way into the two-story frame house Christmas Eve and found the fully clothed bodies of Frank Baker, 93, and his wife, Catherine, 92, lying on the living room floor.

Police theorized the Bakers died late last Friday or early Saturday because Saturday and Monday newspapers were found outside the home.

The couple had been without electricity since Thursday, leaving them without power to operate the gas furnace, said Bob O'Brien, a Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. spokesman.

Overnight temperatures sank to 12 degrees above zero Thursday and Saturday and to 16 on Friday. Daytime highs fell from 48 on Friday to 20 on Saturday.

The couple's only child, Frances Heise, who lives nearby, said the Bakers were up and around and appeared to be in fairly good health when she saw them a week or 10 days ago. "I want to find out what happens first before I say anything. If it's the truth that they didn't pay their bill, then I guess they (the power company) would do the same thing" to anyone else, Mrs. Heise said.

O'Brien said the Bakers, who owed more than $200 on their electric and natural gas bill, could still have operated their gas stove. But "if he tried to heat his house with a natural gas stove, and no windows were open, there's a possibility they were asphyxiated."

O'Brien said that a company serviceman attempted to enter the home last Thursday to turn off the electricity at the meter, but Baker refused to let him enter and "wouldn't talk to him at all." O'Brien added that later that day the company disconnected wires leading from a utility pole to the meter, leaving the home without any electricity.

Mrs. Heise said her parents, married 57 years, lived on Social Security and a pension. Baker was a retired school and theater custodian.

Would-Be Suicide Rescued

HONOLULU (AP) — A police sergeant rescued a suicide-bent serviceman just as the youth began what would have been a death fall of more than 400 feet from the top of an uncompleted hotel, authorities say.

Honolulu police gave this account of the Christmas Day incident:

Gary Caudell, a serviceman stationed here, left a suicide note on the ground before riding a workmen's elevator to the top of the 25-story hotel under construction in Waikiki.

Caudell, 19, then climbed another couple hundred feet up a crane and out to the end of its 200-foot-long boom. He sat down, his feet dangling more than 400 feet above the street where hundreds of persons stopped to watch.

Sgt. John Piper and officer Donald Wong crawled out to the end of the boom and tried to talk Caudell into giving up his perch.

That effort failed, and as Caudell began slipping, Piper made a desperate grab and caught him by the arm. Wong helped Piper pull Caudell back, and together they got him to a point where firemen took over to carry the youth to safety.

He was turned over to armed services police, who took him to a military hospital.

Police said they did not know Caudell's branch of service or hometown. Neither the contents of Caudell's note nor a motive for his suicide attempt were made public.

Two Injured In Holiday Accident

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies Investigated one accident during the last 48 hours of the Christmas holiday weekend.

Earl Collier Jr., 24, Columbus, received a bump on the right eye when he was involved in a single-car accident 12:30 a.m. Tuesday on State Route 104.

According to the report taken by Sheriff's Deputy Earl Kuhn, Collier was attempting to round a curve when the car began to skid on the wet pavement.

The auto went left of center striking a guard rail.

John W. Spain Jr., 27, Columbus, passenger in the auto, received a bump on the forehead and a laceration on the top of the head. Both men were referred to a doctor.

Chairman Mao 80 Years Old, Reported In Good Health

TOKYO (AP) — Chairman Mao Tse-tung is 80 today and is reported in good health despite years of personal privation, political struggle and arduous work.

Mao was expected to spend the day quietly, receiving a few friends. Bowing to his own wishes, China does not hold public celebrations of his birthdays. Congratulatory messages were reported received from Le Duan and Kim Il Sung, the heads of the North Vietnamese and North Korean Communist parties.

The report on Mao's physical condition comes from Japanese correspondents in Peking. Although he has not been seen at large public events since the 10th Communist Party Congress in August, he has met a number of foreign leaders since then.

Mao attributes his sound constitution to youthful enthusiasm for physical culture. He and a few friends often took long hikes in midwinter, naked from the waist up, which they called "wind baths."

Mao was ill for a few months following his 1945 negotiations with Chiang in Chungking, but there have been no reports of serious sicknesses since then. With age he has given up some of the peppery dishes of his native Hunan province. But associates say he continues to smoke small cigars.

Associates say Mao, a prodigious reader, spends much of his time now reading. They report he makes halting attempts to learn the rudiments of English, the language used by many of the chiefs of state he receives in the study of his home in the Forbidden City of Peking.

Christmas Blaze Fatal To Man, 76

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — George Barrington, 76, died Christmas Day in a fire at his home.

Firemen said Barrington, an invalid, apparently had been smoking in bed.

Reds Down Viet Copter

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Communist gunners shot down a South Vietnamese transport helicopter Christmas Day, killing nine soldiers and wounding 36, military sources said today.

The sources said the helicopter was hit by machine-gun and small arms fire as it was landing at Tong Le Chan military base 60 miles north of Saigon.

Aboard were six crewmen and 45 militiamen sent to reinforce the base, which has been cut off by road since last March.

It was the third government aircraft reported lost in four days, but only the crash Tuesday was blamed on enemy action.

The Saigon military command announced that a twin-engine AC47 gunship crashed Christmas Eve because of mechanical failure 30 miles south of Da Nang and all 12 persons aboard were killed. Twenty soldiers were killed and 17 wounded when a helicopter loaded with ammunition exploded on Dec. 21 after landing in the Mekong Delta.

Elderly Couple Dies In Cold Home

SCHENECTADY, N.Y. (AP) — Police are awaiting an autopsy report on an elderly couple found dead in their home four days after a power company shut off the heat because they failed to pay their bills.

"There was no heat in the house, but you can't really say it was exposure until there's an autopsy," police said Tuesday night. The deaths appeared to be from natural causes, investigators said.

A grandson forced his way into the two-story frame house Christmas Eve and found the fully clothed bodies of Frank Baker, 93, and his wife, Catherine, 92, lying on the living room floor.

Police theorized the Bakers died late last Friday or early Saturday because Saturday and Monday newspapers were found outside the home.

The couple had been without electricity since Thursday, leaving them without power to operate the gas furnace, said Bob O'Brien, a Niagara Mohawk Power Corp. spokesman.

Overnight temperatures sank to 12 degrees above zero Thursday and Saturday and to 16 on Friday. Daytime highs fell from 48 on Friday to 20 on Saturday.

The couple's only child, Frances Heise, who lives nearby, said the Bakers were up and around and appeared to be in fairly good health when she saw them a week or 10 days ago. "I want to find out what happens first before I say anything. If it's the truth that they didn't pay their bill, then I guess they (the power company) would do the same thing" to anyone else, Mrs. Heise said.

O'Brien said the Bakers, who owed more than $200 on their electric and natural gas bill, could still have operated their gas stove. But "if he tried to heat his house with a natural gas stove, and no windows were open, there's a possibility they were asphyxiated."

O'Brien said that a company serviceman attempted to enter the home last Thursday to turn off the electricity at the meter, but Baker refused to let him enter and "wouldn't talk to him at all." O'Brien added that later that day the company disconnected wires leading from a utility pole to the meter, leaving the home without any electricity.

Mrs. Heise said her parents, married 57 years, lived on Social Security and a pension. Baker was a retired school and theater custodian.

Would-Be Suicide Rescued

HONOLULU (AP) — A police sergeant rescued a suicide-bent serviceman just as the youth began what would have been a death fall of more than 400 feet from the top of an uncompleted hotel, authorities say.

Honolulu police gave this account of the Christmas Day incident:

Gary Caudell, a serviceman stationed here, left a suicide note on the ground before riding a workmen's elevator to the top of the 25-story hotel under construction in Waikiki.

Caudell, 19, then climbed another couple hundred feet up a crane and out to the end of its 200-foot-long boom. He sat down, his feet dangling more than 400 feet above the street where hundreds of persons stopped to watch.

Sgt. John Piper and officer Donald Wong crawled out to the end of the boom and tried to talk Caudell into giving up his perch.

That effort failed, and as Caudell began slipping, Piper made a desperate grab and caught him by the arm. Wong helped Piper pull Caudell back, and together they got him to a point where firemen took over to carry the youth to safety.

He was turned over to armed services police, who took him to a military hospital.

Police said they did not know Caudell's branch of service or hometown. Neither the contents of Caudell's note nor a motive for his suicide attempt were made public.

Two Injured In Holiday Accident

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies Investigated one accident during the last 48 hours of the Christmas holiday weekend.

Earl Collier Jr., 24, Columbus, received a bump on the right eye when he was involved in a single-car accident 12:30 a.m. Tuesday on State Route 104.

According to the report taken by Sheriff's Deputy Earl Kuhn, Collier was attempting to round a curve when the car began to skid on the wet pavement.

The auto went left of center striking a guard rail.

John W. Spain Jr., 27, Columbus, passenger in the auto, received a bump on the forehead and a laceration on the top of the head. Both men were referred to a doctor.

Chairman Mao 80 Years Old, Reported In Good Health

TOKYO (AP) — Chairman Mao Tse-tung is 80 today and is reported in good health despite years of personal privation, political struggle and arduous work.

Mao was expected to spend the day quietly, receiving a few friends. Bowing to his own wishes, China does not hold public celebrations of his birthdays. Congratulatory messages were reported received from Le Duan and Kim Il Sung, the heads of the North Vietnamese and North Korean Communist parties.

The report on Mao's physical condition comes from Japanese correspondents in Peking. Although he has not been seen at large public events since the 10th Communist Party Congress in August, he has met a number of foreign leaders since then.

Mao attributes his sound constitution to youthful enthusiasm for physical culture. He and a few friends often took long hikes in midwinter, naked from the waist up, which they called "wind baths."

Mao was ill for a few months following his 1945 negotiations with Chiang in Chungking, but there have been no reports of serious sicknesses since then. With age he has given up some of the peppery dishes of his native Hunan province. But associates say he continues to smoke small cigars.

Associates say Mao, a prodigious writer, spends much of his time now reading. They report he makes halting attempts to learn the rudiments of English, the language used by many of the chiefs of state he receives in the study of his home in the Forbidden City of Peking.
